MESSAGE FROM HIS EXCELLENCY THE MOST HON. SIR PATRICK ALLEN ON, GCMG, CD, KST.J GOVERNOR-GENERAL

HIS EXCELLENCY THE MOST HON. SIR PATRICK ALLEN ON, GCMG, CD, KST.J GOVERNOR-GENERAL

For one hundred and twenty-five years (125) years, Cornwall College has stood as one of four male secondary schools in the country, playing a major role in shaping the lives of the nation's boys, educating them to become well-rounded academically, morally, spiritually, physically - transforming them to Men of Might.

Serving the Western Region, Cornwall College, over the years, has built a commendable reputation as it continues to produce exceptional graduates, who have made a significant contribution to all areas of national life, especially in the fields of medicine, politics and education. Being named the first government school in Jamaica and the first high school in the West Indies to offer Chemistry and Physics as subjects, Cornwall College has established several other track records in music, sports and other co-curricular activities, thereby boosting pride among its students, alumni, and the community.

As the education paradigm shifts and the world moves toward a knowledge-based economy, education at the high school level has become the cornerstone of lifelong success. The Cornwall College goal must, therefore, be to continue focusing on creating an environment where all stakeholders can strive to attain their highest ideals. Let it be that the necessary strategies are employed that each boy learns because he is integral to the long-term educational goals of the College.

I congratulate Cornwall College for its tradition of excellence and urge that you continue to hold fast to your mission "To transform boys into men of might by imparting values, attitudes and quality education that prepare and empower them to optimally function in society and the global village."

Happy 125th Anniversary!

MESSAGE FROM THE MOST HON ANDREW HOLNESS, ON, MP, PC PRIME MINISTER

THE MOST HON ANDREW HOLNESS, ON, MP, PC PRIME MINISTER

Congratulations to Cornwall College on celebrating 125 years of excellence in secondary education. I am pleased to join the board, staff, students, other stakeholders and partners in recognising this milestone. As you reflect on rich legacy of Cornwall College over the last century and a quarter, I implore you to continue shaping well-rounded Jamaican men that add value to our society.

Since 1896, CC, as the institution is affectionately called, has been committed to educating and developing the young men in St. James and adjoining areas. The Government commends Cornwall College on establishing high discipline standards as evidenced by the embodiment of the school's motto, "Learn or Leave." In addition, the institution has made commendable achievements in academics, extra-curricular activities and sports. CC's impressive record in the area of schoolboy sports is commendable copping eleven Oliver Shield and twelve DaCosta Cup titles, are a testament to this.

I implore the teachers, administrative staff and students under the leadership of principal Mr Michael Ellis to stay true to the values that underpin the school's success. Cornwall College has graduated notable members of the Jamaican society earning distinction for having a large cadre of graduates who have gone on to service our nation as, Chief Justices and medical doctors among other professions. In that regard, I encourage all past students, the Board of Governors and the community of parents to persist in supporting the school's policies, initiatives and programmes that are constructive to holistic education.

One hundred and twenty-five years of impactful existence is no small feat; I, therefore, urge you to remain dedicated to your mission of positively moulding young lives. As you look forward to many more years of remarkable service to education, may you continue transforming boys into 'men of might'.

Happy 125th Anniversary, Cornwall College!

MARK J. GOLDING, MP
LEADER OF THE OPPOSITION

It is with great pleasure that I join Cornwall College in celebrating the school's 125th anniversary. I wish to extend my congratulations to the entire Cornwall College community for reaching this significant milestone.

Cornwall College is built on strong academic and moral grounding, raising multifaceted young men who are empowered to contribute meaningfully to the social, political and economic development of our society. It is an institution which strives to ensure that its students benefit from an experience at school that leaves them well-rounded, and that its boys are raised to become "Men of Might".

The school motto thus asserts boldly, "Disce aut Discede", which translates to "Learn or Leave", an enduring testament to the emphasis that Cornwall College places on the immutable values of education and living by ethical principles.

The Cornwall College Old Boys' Association must also be commended for upholding that ethos, and for the enduring role it has played in moulding the lives of students in Montego Bay and Western Jamaica.

Happy 125th Anniversary

I applaud Principal Michael Ellis, the dedicated teachers, hardworking educators who have remained committed to improving the institution's standard of learning. This journey would not have been possible without the contribution of those charged with the leadership and the unbreakable relationship and support rendered by the Board Chairman Patrick Reid and team, parents and the CC alumni.

The celebration of 125 years in the life of any institution is truly an achievement and a memorable occasion that calls for reflection. I extend heartiest congratulations to Cornwall College (CC) on this significant milestone and its outstanding contribution to the educational development of the nation.

Since 1896, Cornwall College has played and continues to play that all important and enduring role of “converting boys to men of might”. The institution situated on the hill beside the sea is one of the oldest all male schools in the island and continues to provide a sound education to our boys.

This year, 2021 marks our quasiquintennia, offering us that chance to look back at our lasting legacy. Those who have passed through these gates each year would have helped to create that legendary story that is yet to be told in its entirety. This noble institution has molded many a great academic and iconic sportsmen.

As a product of this institution, and the Member of Parliament for the Constituency that the school falls within, it is with gratitude that I accept the invitation to pen these words in recognition of the celebration of 125 years of yeoman service to the nation.

Cornwall College is, and will continue to be an evidence of progress in the educational sector. We continue to strive for excellence surging forward in the production of “men of might”.

MESSAGE FROM MICHAEL ELLIS J. P AND PRINCIPAL OF CORNWALL COLLEGE

MICHAEL ELLIS J. P
PRINCIPAL CORNWALL COLLEGE

In celebration of our 125 years of anniversary, we continue to take pride in the remarkable successes of our Cornwall College School Community. Notably, 125 years in the life of anyone or any organization is not only a great achievement but a blessing as well.

Cornwall College exists today for the same reason it was founded in 1896, that is, to educate and develop young boys for active service to their communities and the nation on a whole. Hence the birth of what was then called, Montego Bay Government Secondary School, today Cornwall College.

Today we have distinguished ourselves as one of the pre-eminent institutions for learning; not just in Montego Bay but in the Caribbean as well as the world.

Guided by the motto: ‘Learn or Leave’, we embrace the philosophy of “Transforming Boys to Become Men of Might.” We can proudly say that this vision has been realized through the long list of Erudite Scholars, Doctors, Scientists, Politicians, Attorneys, Engineers and Entrepreneurs serving Jamaica, the wider Caribbean and many other countries globally.

Our 125th Anniversary is intended to celebrate these significant achievements, and to nurture and grow the Cornwall College Legacy for those who are with us now, coupled with those who will join us in the future.

Our values of integrity, excellence, teamwork and success are fundamental to our vision, and form the catalyst for our continued growth and development as an unparalleled and unique learning institution. We are a community full of intelligence, spirit, warmth, and compassion. Undoubtedly, we are united in purpose, resting on the pillars of Academics, Sports, Culture and Social Responsibility. With God as our supreme leader, we resolve to be motivated by the faith and resilience of our founding fathers as we unconditionally and unreservedly commit ourselves solemnly to the future prosperity and success of this our noble institution.

I therefore wish to thank all members of our school community: governments, board members, administration past and present, teachers, members of staff, students, and parents, past and present. Together, you have made Cornwall College what it is today. I look forward to our future partnerships, working as indefatigable campaigners to transform lives.

Hesitate not, to celebrate this indomitable Community in our 125th anniversary!

MESSAGE FROM CORNWALL COLLEGE OLD BOYS ASSOCIATION

DR. RICHARD MEGGO

As we celebrate 125 years of existence, we reflect on the many accomplishments of our alma mater and give thanks that it has stood the test of time. We are grateful Cornwall College has remained true to its mandate to provide quality education to young boys who are ultimately converted to Men of

The school on the hill beside the sea has been a beacon of light to many throughout the length and breadth of Jamaica, indeed across the globe, and has focused on holistic development of the young men who have passed through its hallowed halls, excelling both in academics and extracurricular activities. Its importance to national development cannot be overstated and it has provided a whole slew of individuals who have shaped the fabric of Jamaica. As we continue on the onward march, we look forward to the maintenance of a culture of excellence as embodied in our school motto “Disce aut Discede”, Learn or Leave.

MESSAGE FROM CORNWALL COLLEGE OLD BOYS ASSOCIATION (KINGSTON CHAPTER)

PATRICK D. THOMPSON
PRESIDENT

In celebrating the 125th anniversary of our beloved alma mater we reflect on the invaluable contribution it has made to the development of the Jamaican society. Cornwallians have participated and led in every field of human endeavour setting examples for all to follow.

We thank the founders for having conceptualized and established this noble institution creating a path to education for boys initially of the less fortunate. Their legacy endures forever. In the ensuing years many others, through their dedication and altruism ensured these boys were converted to Men of Might. Their work continues and our Chapter salutes them.

A new horizon looms for our school. The demands of the post pandemic society require a paradigm shift in how schools provide an education. The Old Boys Associations while not the vanguard of the change will be integral to the success of this effort. A partnership must be forged with the school's management setting out defined objectives and expected results as pre-requisites.

The Kingston Chapter is resolute in its commitment to support the school's development. Throughout the years assistance has been provided for infrastructural improvements, co-curricular activities and the funding of students who would not have otherwise been able to attend school. These efforts will continue as we pursue a shared vision continuing to work together to achieve the desired results.

Congratulations to the College, our school on the hill beside the sea.

MESSAGE FROM CORNWALL COLLEGE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION OF NEW YORK

BARRINGTON HARVEY, SR.
PRESIDENT CCOBANY

Ask not what your country can do for you, ask what you can do for your country" - John F. Kennedy. Ever since President Kennedy made this statement in his inauguration speech on January 21, 1961, it has been often quoted over the years. Today, I would like to modify his quotation a bit by stating, "Ask not what Jamaica can do for you or have done for you, ask what you can do for Jamaica".

Despite the constraints presented by COVID-19, the New York Chapter's mission to support the school has continued with unabated vigor. However, the pandemic has laid bare some gaping inadequacies that we are working on in earnest to help to remedy.

As we are celebrating the 125th anniversary of the school let us take some time to reflect on what the school has meant to so many of us who were fortunate to have attended.

Cornwall College has made its mark as an institution par excellence, but we should not rest on our laurels. The school must be as relevant now as it was at its beginning and continue to meet the needs of the boys currently in attendance and in the future, by providing an unparalleled educational opportunity for its students. Such an education should instill in the young men a deep desire to be of service to their country and their fellow citizens.

"To be learned in all that is worthwhile knowing. Not to be crammed with the subject matter of the book or the philosophy of the classroom, but to store away in your head such facts as you need for the daily application of life, so that you may the better in all things understand your fellowmen, and interpret your relationship to your Creator" - Marcus Garvey

MESSAGE FROM CORNWALL COLLEGE OLD BOYS ASSOCIATION MID-ATLANTIC

Over the last 125 years, Cornwall College, our beloved alma mater on the hill by the sea, has stood for leadership and excellence. The school whose stated goal is to turn boys who attend into Men of Might has blazed a trail that is well documented and recognized in Jamaica and the world for producing some of the finest scholars, entrepreneurs, civic leaders, social activists, athletes, entertainers, and citizens in almost every industry.

The Cornwall College Old Boys Association Mid-Atlantic Chapter, which covers Pennsylvania, South New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, and Ohio, is proud of our role in supporting Cornwall College. Over the last four years, starting under the leadership of Past President Neville Bell and continues today under my administration, our members, with support from other alumni chapters, have shipped desks, chairs, laboratory equipment, computers, office furniture, and many other school supplies to the school.

Even with this support, we recognize that there is always more to get done to help our beloved alma mater. As part of our mission, we have adopted words codified in Jamaica's National Pledge that we will work diligently and creatively; think generously and honestly so that Cornwall College may, with God's guidance, increase in scholarship, fellowship, and prosperity. We look forward to continuing to support Cornwall College so that its accomplishments in future years may even outshine those of its first 125 years.

HISTORY

1841-1895

The school in St. James dates to the 19th century, when secondary education was greatly needed in the parish and George Millar, a teacher from Scotland, opened the Montego Bay Academy in 1841.[3] In 1852, the Academy was moved to the Presbyterian House, which was at the time located at 56 Union Street. In 1871 the academy closed its doors when representatives from Scotland encouraged the government of Jamaica to establish a Queen's College in Spanish Town. This institution also did not last long and again government sponsored secondary education was lacking in the country. In 1895, a Presbyterian minister, Rev. Adam Thomson, and a government representative for St. James and Trelawny, Hon. John Kerr, petitioned the government to allocate 500 pounds for secondary education in Montego Bay.

Thus, in 1896, Cornwall College was born. The school was at that time located on Barracks Road (site of the Public Works Office) and was called Montego Bay Government Secondary School. Classes began in September 1896 with 21 students. The School Board was chaired by Rev Thompson until his death in 1897. Some insight into the early operations of the school is documented. For example concerning the Library. A 1904 report says that among other things, "the school has a small library for the use of the boys" Regarding girls, an 1903 report mentioned that "According to the scheme, the school may at the discretion of the Board of Education comprise a separate department for girls in which case needlework is to be added" That never materialized in a formal sense. On the matter of Science it says, "Science is being extended along the lines of the "School of Science" in England and will include Principles of Agriculture. In order to make the practical teaching in Science efficient, a laboratory has been recently added. As for boarding, it appears that up to 1905, the school operated simply as a day school catering to boys of the community. The need for taking boys from further afield was recognized and a report states that "the Headmaster can assist parents in arranging for the boarding of boys in private families."

Mr. E. Lockett, B.A., was named the first headmaster and he served until 1903. He was succeeded by Anglican priest, Rev. George Hibbert Leader in 1904. Leader served some 19 years at the helm of the institution which ran into difficulties due to the rapid growth of the student body and the resulting lack of classroom space. It was then that in 1909 the Hon. D. A. Corinaldi stepped in and used his considerable influence and status to procure 2,500 pounds from the government to assist in the establishment of a new school site.[4] Between 1910 and 1911, 34 acres of land were bought at the Pleasant Hill Estate where the institution was constructed. The school was officially opened at its new location in 1911 by the then Governor of Jamaica, Sir Sidney Olivier.

1922-Present

In 1922, Montego Bay Government Secondary School was renamed Cornwall College after Cornwall County, Jamaica in which it is located. Given its antecedents a "School of Science" a state of the art Physics laboratory was established at Cornwall College in 1925 at a cost of 600 pounds. This Laboratory was the first of its kind in Jamaica and the English speaking Caribbean at that time. Under the Leadership of Rev Leader, the school had made great progress in the Sciences and the Physics laboratory was actually opened while Rev Edgar Baker was Headmaster. This was two years after the sudden death of Rev. Leader from a heart attack.

HISTORY

Mr. Frank Ogle, science teacher was largely responsible for the organization of the Physics programme at Cornwall College during that period. Mathematics teacher Mr. Everald Barrett who later became headmaster actually taught Physics at CC for a few years in the late 1930s. The establishment of the physics laboratory played a pivotal role in the reputation of Cornwall College and it is reputed that the institution was named the first government school in Jamaica and also the first high school in the West Indies to offer Chemistry and Physics as subjects in its curriculum, and for many years the majority of doctors and pharmacists in Jamaica were graduates of the school. In 1953, Cornwall College came under the leadership of Mr. E.A. Barrett, the school's first Jamaican-born headmaster. Under Barrett's leadership, the school's population grew to over 650 boys and has been on an upward trajectory ever since with over 1300 boys now attending the Institution.

Many well-known figures have passed through the gates of Cornwall College including Speaker of the House of Representatives: Hon. Headley Cunningham; Chief Justices Sir Rowland Phillips, Sir Herbert Duffus and Kenneth Smith; Members of Parliament: Dr. Horace Chang, Dr. Kenneth Baugh, Dr. Karl Blythe, Arthur Nelson, Lloyd B. Smith (Editor of the Western Mirror) and the late Patrick Rosegreen; Ambassador Derrick Heaven; the late Dr. Garth Taylor; the late Walt Crooks, owner of Club Inferno Resort; William "Billy" Craig, former Custos Rotulorum of St. James; Montego Bay businessman Carlton Chin; American businessman Vincent HoSang; Physics professors Dr. H. PROFESSOR RICHARD COOKE - ACES SENIOR FACULTY AWARD FOR EXCELLENCE IN EXTENSION!

Described as a highly intelligent and extremely thoughtful engineer and scholar with a true passion for improving the quality of life for people around the world,

Professor Richard Cooke is the recipient of the 2020 ACES Senior Faculty Award for Excellence in Extension. Cooke joined the ABE faculty in 1994 with a 50-50 teaching and research appointment. That was quickly revised to include a major emphasis on extension as the important practicality of his work for production agriculture became apparent. His research is cited as providing significant benefits to producers, conservationists and environmentalists, policy makers, and the drainage and land improvement industry. Cooke continues to administer the annual drainage school and has converted the Illinois drainage guide to a digital format. He has been an influential mentor to many in the industry and the academy. His contributions have also been recognized through numerous awards, including the 2020 Gunlogson Countryside Engineering Award from the American Society of Agricultural and Biological Engineers and 2020-2021 Fulbright U.S. Scholar Program award.

MR LEIGHTON MCKNIGHT

Mr Leighton Mcknight Is one of the best students to have passed through Cornwall College.

At School he was a quiet student. He was also very driven and diligent leading to him getting all his subjects and excelling at sixth form where remembers being the only student from Cornwall to pass geography that year. He went on to University where he became extremely popular and developed his well known gregarious spirit. He excelled again in his studies as an accountant and he is now managing partner at Price Waterhouse Coopers in Jamaica.

His most amazing talent is his altruism, being a help to so many students who face hard times

In 2017 he received the highest honour from his ICAJ colleagues at a Glittering ceremony.

CELEBRATING THE POWER OF COLLABORATION

The US-based Mid-Atlantic Chapter of the Cornwall College Old Boys' Association (CCOBAMA) is buttressing a movement to ensure their former high school is aptly supplied with essential infra-structural learning tools. Like a second wave, CCOBAMA along with a host of 'Cornwallians' in the North-east of the United States delivered their second massive shipment of school supplies. A total of two forty-foot containers packed with, Personal Protective Equipment, computers, office furniture, white boards, lab tables and stools, fume hoods and various sports equipment.

Former President Neville Bell, "Since our inception, the Mid Atlantic chapter has worked to towards the improvement of the infrastructure of our alma mater. Starting with a computer lab 2019, we have worked towards upgrading the IT and other needs of the school." He continued. "We must thank our donors, both personal and corporate, such as Caribbean Food Delights/Royal Caribbean Bakery and NOWAD Engineering Ltd.

Principal Michael Ellis demonstrated his appreciation of the old boys to the 125-year old institution. "Once again the Cornwall College alumni have delivered. They have shown their unwavering commitment to their alma mater. They have put their money, their resources, and their time where their heart is. The result is that the school is better off at this current moment than we were before."

Congratulations to Cornwall College for 125 years of education
